Unashamed by its abuse of Uighurs, China is lecturing India on the rights of minorities

It's a nation that has title regard for the human rights of its own citizens, and less for those of the ethnic and religious minorities; and yet it has the temerity to pontificate about "harmonicus coexistence". Chinese Prorigin Ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin said on Monday. "China always believes that different civilisations and religions should respect each other and live together as equals." He went on to say: "It is always impor-tant to discard pride and prejudice, better understand the differences between one's own civilisation and other civilisations and programs.

civilisation and other civilisations, and promote exchanges, dialogue and harmonious coexistence between civilisations." And how, pray, China promotes narmonius coexistence" There is a mountain of evi-dence and a zillion reports — freely accessible on the internet — proving that Uighurs in China's Xinjiaga rea facing an existential crisis. Their civil and human rights have been annulled by Beijing; they have been sub-lected to the most brutal forms of repression; their reli-gion, Islam, is being banished; their mosques and other hazes of revenges are higher secret. The blace places of reverence are being razed. The Chinese Communist Party has gone to the extent of calling Islam a mental disorder, a disorder that needs to be cured.

This is exactly what it has been doing in Xinjiang: A large number of concentration camps — officially called Vocational Education and Training Centres — have imprisoned over a million Uighur Muslims in the province. No other minority in the world is oned over a million Uighur Muslims in the province. No other minority in the world is suffering as much as the Uighurs are at this moment: from actual genocide to cultural genocide, they are being subjected to every form of oppression. Five years ago, the Chinese Government came up with a regulation that forbade certain Muslim names, so parents can't choose names like Muhammad, Arafat, Jihad, Islam, Quran, Saddam and Mecca for their children. The violation could deprive the children of education and Government benefits. BBC reported on May 24, "A series of potice files obtained by the BBC in 2022 revealed details of China's use of these camps and described the routine use of armed officers and the existence of a shoot-to-kill policy for those trying to escape. The US is among several countries to have previously accused China routine use of armed officers and the existence of a shoot-to-kill policy for those trying to escape. The US is among several countries to have previously accused China of committing genocide in Xinjiang. The leading human rights groups. Armesty and Human Rights Watch, have published reports accusing China of crimes against humanity." There have been reports of systematic rape of Uightur women to terrorise the Muslim community in Xinjiang. In June 2021, there were allegations that organ harvesting was being carried out on minority groups, including Uighturs. A group of UN independent experts expressed concern over the allegations. Harmonious coexistence, indeed!

Russia has offered admission in its varsities to Indian students who had to flee Ukraine

Deaking on the occasion of Russia's National Day recently, Russian ambassador Deais Alipov chose to extend his nation's goodwill towards india when he said that his country deeply cherishes the "equal and respectful relations" with India and the multidimensional cooperation between the two strategic partners is one of the world's "most elaborate" ones. Now, this statement doesn't per se make news but what renders it important is the fact that it comes about at a time when Russia is invading its neighbour and former USSR member. Ukraine, with list full military might on the pretext that the smaller country is trying to gain the membership of Nato and the development, if it comes about, would endanger Russia's security. Though it certainly hasn't been able to claw its mighty fist into Ukraine even after 110 days of fierce lighting as Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy and his troops have stood solidly like a rock despite facing several territorial setbacks, mainly on account of the shortage of state-of-the-art artillery and firepower to take on the advancing Russians, it does-

One still remembers when in the initial days of the invasion attempt, the US offered to airlift former tele-actor-turned-President Zelenskyy to safety and he spoke like a true statesman: "No, I don't need a lift. I would rather have modern firear ms to take on the Russian troops who are killing our innocent civil-ians and children." In the course of the prolonged invasion bid, Russia was understandably isolated in the world and, besides the embarcassment of face.

the world and, besides the embarrassment of fac-ing at least two resolutions against it in the United Nations, it was forced to suffer several sanctions from the superpowers, barring China. However, India steadfastly several sanctions from the superpowers, barring Unina. However, inous steadrastly refused to vote against Russia, choosing instead to abstain from the votes. This diplo-matic stratagem seems to have worked well since neither the US, leading the global charge against Russia, not the invading country has turned against the world's largest democracy. Now obviously Russia doesn't want to be seen as ungratefulMain Piece to its all-weather friend. Towards this end, it's underlining the age-old camaraderie between the nations and has even said that Indian students who had to leave studies mildway as they filed the Russia-Ukraine conflict will be offered admission in Russian training the studies of the s universities without them losing out on their previous academic years bonal cambrateries, usuatoms and ethos of batalions and regiments. The Army, delicient of 125,000 solidors, is operating with these dangerous delicinesies on LoC and LAC. With ToD intake at 40,000 while 60,000 retire annually, manpower voids will increase. What is most puzzling is how the Government-pushed ToD has passed muster with Commanders, especially from fighting arms Infantry and Armoured Corps. One serving LT Gen said: "It's full accompil." The Government bringing in an Army Chief of its choice has helped ToD to said through. A presentation on ToD was made to Prime Minister last week and clearly has his stamp all over Agnipath and Agniveer project, the name of the new All-India All-Class (AIAC) composition of the Army, 40,000 Agniveers with ₹40,000 salary will become voluntary conscripts for four years, 10 per cent being ploughed back. Those discharged will get a severance package of ₹11 lakh, one third of which they would have paul for. These soldiers of fortune are to be re-skilled and suitably re-employed by Government schemes that lawe not succeeded in the past, now even more unlikely, due to recession in jobs. Experts fear Agniveers could become military contractors

(mercenaries), join insurgency movements, criminal gangs and so on, What havoc the AIAC will do to the regimental system is transform the Army into numbered regiments like the American Army, sacrificing the carefully manicured caste-based units and sub-units on the altar of financial expediency. Downsizing can be achieved in other ways without breaking integrity of the forces. Soon, commemorating battle honour days of 300-year-old and younger specifically-classed regiments will dissipate. Not to talk of 200-year-young Gorkha regiments enlisted from Nepal which could disappear, disrupting India-Nepal special relations. Has the Government really thought out ToD? A delayed and diminished CDS is clear reflection of Government's current importance of defence. For next CDS, my money is on If Gen (Redd) Vogesh Kumar Joshi, PYSM, UVSM, AVSM, VC, SM from the 60th NDA batch. But the real worry must be about the bombshell ToD and the dangerous potential of extinguished Agniveers.

Sir — The Congress bigwigs walking onto meaningless and looks like a cover-up to Subsequently, the Gandhis have obtained

This kind of street protests can neither

Thus, thrust has shifted to using disposable plates made from plant leaves, which are renewable, biodegradable and enriched with antioxidants and medicinal values. The plates and cups made of leaves are known as patrowali, pattal, vistari, done etc in various Indian languages. In India, serving food on leafy dining plates is a long-standing tradition with its own cultural, religious, medicinal and socio-economic significance. To sustain the practice of using leaf plates and discourage plastic plates, regulations should be imposed by the Government and monitored by local bodies.

FIRST GOLUMN GUN CULTURE IN US IS NOW HURTING PEOPLE

The gun lobby and others are opposing oun control laws

ASHWANI MAHAJAN

Though the United State House of Representatives passed a Bill resisting the sale of guns on June 8, if's very unlikely that this Bill will become a law. This is so because Republicans are determined to oppose it in the Senate. Nobody knows for how long ordinary Americans will have to live under the threat that somebody will come and start shooting without provocation. But no doubt in the forthcoming elections, this issue is going to gain prominence. This Bill came either a shocking incident where five people were killed by shooting at the Tuisa Medical building—the 233rd mass shooting of 2022. Before this, a gunnars shot and killed 19 young students and two teachers at an elementary school in Uvalue. Texas. Just two weeks before this incident, 10 people were killed and three were injured during a racist attack at a grocery store in Buffale, New York. The important point here is that in most of these incidents, the killers were not the terrorists but cazey young men. Some people have started saying that it is much risket to live in the US than going to war in Affprincistan. It is for the first time that any US President has used strong words against the system and cuture of worling guns. Joe Bilden has called on Congress to ban assaut weapons or to raise the age to be able to buy one, from 18 to 21 years and other measures to cure gun violence in the United States in his address on June 2. He has also called for a ban on high-capacity magazines, background checks, red flag laws and a repeal of the immunity that protects gun manufactures from legal fability if their weapons are used in violence. It's easy to buy guns in the US, Guns are easily available, and can be purchased almost like vegetables, in thousands of stores, without much background almost like vegetables, in thousands of stores, without much background check. Besides, people often buy guns from relatives and friends. To buy a gun, unifile in India, a person need not possess a licence in the US. One has to only give some information about enseet by filling up a form. Within minutes of the filling up of the information, vorification is done by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FB) and the gun reaches into the hands of the buyer. According to the website of the FBI, in the last one decade, enquiry was sought in 10 crore cases and only 7 lakh repople were found ineligible to purchase a gun, that is, less than one per cent of the total. Amost evary citizen of the US is edigible to have a gun, With a spurit in murders in the last lew years, it's being said that ease of having a gun is causing murders and illegal activities.

The demand for gun control has been there for a long time, and many political leaders have been trying to make gun laws stricter. However, they have been facing numerous problems in their endeavour. And behind this, there is a strong gun lobby. Since 1871, there has been a strong unganisation called the National Rifle Association (NIA) which has been directly engaged in potitical lobbying for weak gun laws, since 1934. Though there are nearly 50 lakh NRA members, who contribute for the association, a major churk of financing comes from gun manufacturing companies. For obvious reasons, this organisation makes every possible effort to thwart any effort to make any strict kw against possession of guns. We can gauge the influence of this gun lobby from the fact that the NRA spent about the foreign and the problems of the fact that the NRA spent about $250 million in 2020, far more than all the country's gun control advocacy groups put together. The NRA funds Senate members who, in turn, by to defeat efforts to curb guns. President Obarra faced a lot of criticism from the gun lobby for issuing some admin-strative cordsrs, imposing restrictions on purchase of guns. Whether it is the issue of making stricter gun law or taking administrative action to restrict guns, the gun lobby always thes to create hurcles. President Joe Biden has renewed attempts to restrict guns, but he also doesn't seem to be in a mood to issue an executive order on the subject. He wants a stricter law to be greaterful democraticable. stricter law to be enacted democratically.

Kumar is not alone in demanding a caste census; states like Chhattisgarh, Maharashtra, and even Odisha (where the rul-ing BID faces no existential threat) are also ready to join the bandwaron TRUTHINESS-DOMINATED DISCOURSES threat) are also ready to join the bandwagon.

In the truthiness-dominated discourses of our time, caste is a hyper-charged issue because of the promises of handoust is holds, but on its actual power to influence voters, experts and commoners are equally divided. Ask a politician, who has the castewise breakup of all his voters even without a caste census, he will deny that caste plays any role.

Ask a sociologist, and he will red out caste statistics to prove that caste is the single factor responsible for all election results. Ask an economist, and he will are only development, growth and jobs delermine electoral outcomes rather than caste. Yet the truth, as always, perhaps lies somewhere in between.

If caste is not really that important, why is there such a clamour regarding caste census? Let Kumar have his census and serve votes those data instead of jobs which he anyways can't offer. The reality is that a caste census is not that simple.

It cannot be denied that a modern state cannot function without credible data for policy making, and reliable caste data can inform Government policy in a positive way. But caste enumeration is incredible data for policy making, and reliable caste data can inform Government policy in a positive way. But caste enumeration is incredibly complex and highly unreliable.

In the 1980s, the Anthropological Survey of India undertook a study that threw up 65,000 castes. Being unable to classify them, it decided to limit isted to identifying 7,331 communities. ndwagon. In the truthiness-dominated CASTE IS A HYPER-CHARGED ISSUE POWER TO nuties instead. In 2011 a socio-economic caste census (SECC) was undertaken whose results were never published. It had revealed a staggering 46 lakh castes and sub-castes, making it impossible to use these data for any practical purposes; it implied that on an average only 72 households constituted a caste using the same phrase to identify it.

Instead of the utopsa of a casteless society that our constitution makers had yearned for, a casteless society that our constitution makers had yearned for, a casteless society that our enflame passions and conflicts within numerous castes, substituting the present upper caste-lower caste ensions with multi-faceted tensions between all castes and communities, turning the society into an unmanageable dystopia of perpetual conflicts. Policy making for distributing privileges among the estimated 3000 castes and 25000 sub-castes will become an auarchical exercise.

Justifying the exclusion of caste enumeration from the now-delayed 2021 census, the Registrar General and Consus Commissioner opined that the total number of ORCs in the country ranges from 6,285 to 7,200 depending on whether the centre or the states prepared the list.

People use clan, gotra, sub-castes and caste names interrecentre or the states prepared the list. People use clan, gotra, subcastes and caste names interchangeably which leads to insiclassification of castes, thereby affecting the integrity of the Census exercise itself. In 2017, the Consus exercise itself. In 2017, the Robini Commission was constituted to suggest equitable redistribution of the 27 per cent (DeC quota; if noted 2,635 castes covered under the OBC reservation. But the existing OBC reservation policy doesn't recognise any categoty of more marginalised castes within the OBCs, thus enabling egory of more marginalised castes within the OBCs, thus enabling the advanced among them to appropriate most benefits.

Caste-based reservation has benefited the weaker sections, but also produced a new kind of power ellies among them who will be unlikely to give up their powers. The outcome of any caste census that threatens the status quo in terms of benefits available to the different caste groups will necessarily lead to agitation, litigation and competitive demands for quotas.

We will have a deja vu of Mandal days which no Government would know how to control now.

CROATIA PULL OF SHOCK WIN OVER FRANCE

uka Modric's early penalty gave Croatia a Lo win over off-form France in Paris on Monday as the World Cup holders finished their line run of UEPA Nations League matthes without a victory in four outings. Veteran Coopala captain Modric stroked in his spot-like after just five minutes at the Stade de France, and the home side could not find an equaliser despite Klylian Mhappe returning to join Karim Beneman in the starting line-up. sides who contested the 2018 World Cup final in Moscow, although Mbappe, Modric and Marcelo Brozowic were the only players who started that day to line up at kick-off five.

The home fans in the crowd of more than 77,000 were left stunned as the Israeli referee awarded the visitors an early penalty when Luverpool defender Brahima Konate was adjudged to have fouled Josip Brekalo.

The evergreen Modric, back at the ground where he won the Champions League with Real Madrid at the end of last month, made no mistake with the neutling penalty even though France goalkeeper Mile Madjinan got a touch.

From then on it took the occasional burst of pace by Mbappe to bring the crowd to life, although the closest France came to scoring in the first half was when Christopher Nkunka blasted just wide from range.

Mbape had come off injured against Denmark and so missed the draw in Croatia before emerging from the bench to score a late equaliser in Mastria last weekend.

The Paris Saint-Germain forward did his best to conjure a leveller here as he came close twice early in the second half, and the hosts also had an appeal for a penalty dismissed when Lucas Digne went down in the area.

Meanwhile Maigran was forced to parry away time strike by substitute Lovro Maller at the other end, but Goutda — with Modrica sa majestic as ever — save the game out as goalkeeper Ivica Ivusic stopped Josp Sutalo scoring on own-goal. The final whistle was greeted by jeers and Deschamps will hope that France's asummer slump is simply down to fatigue among his players at the end of a long campaign, rather than a sign of what might be to come later in the year.
